Re: Certification Eligibility of the State Test Component

 Action May Be Required ***

This correspondence serves to notify Residential Mortgage Loan Originators (RMLOs) that a list of those who may be eligible to have their state test component certified has been placed in the SAFE & NMLS Information section of our website (titled Certification Eligibility of State Test Component): http://www.sml.state.tx.us/publications/important_information/eligible_to_certify_state_test_component.pdf. You would look here if you have questions about whether you'll be able to have certified the state component of the SAFE Test required for a license to be issued through the NMLS.

The list will be updated on a monthly basis. If your name is not on the list, it may be because the list has not yet been updated or because you have not taken and passed the Texas SML Mortgage Broker or Loan Officer Pre-Licensing Examination.

Important information regarding the certification of the state test component is as follows:

- Certification of the current Texas SML pre-licensing examination is not restricted to current licensees/registrants
- A licensee/registrant must file a MU4 on or before 08/31/2010 to be considered for testing certification

If you have any questions, you may contact the Texas Department of Savings and Mortgage Lending, Licensing Division, via e-mail at licensing@sml.state.tx.us or phone at 512-475-1350.
